Le Coucou Chooses the Most Beautiful Nest in Méribel

Discreet elegance and world-class skiing... Designed in harmony with nature, Méribel is the oldest resort in Les Trois Vallées, the world's largest ski area. A favored residence of Charlotte Perriand, the famous architect who helped develop the resort with Peter Lindsey in the 1930s, Méribel has long attracted admirers. Perched high in the Belvédère area, at the foot of the Rond-Point des Pistes, Le Coucou is nestled in one of the most scenic spots in Méribel, right by the slopes. Since December 2019, the hotel has stood in harmony with the snowy peaks, overlooking the entire valley. Part of the Maisons Pariente collection of hotels, Le Coucou opens each year from early December to the end of March.

With 55 rooms, including 39 suites, 2 private chalets, ski-in/ski-out access, 3 restaurants, a spa, a Kids Club and Teens Lab, and both indoor and outdoor pools, Le Coucou is tucked away within a charming wooden chalet, reminiscent of the playful bird from which it takes its name. Here, Le Coucou offers a chic and relaxed mountain lifestyle, where five-star luxury elevates every experience thanks to the attentive service of its team. Unconventional, surprising, never expected, and never seen before, Le Coucou sings a tune that everyone loves—the exhilarating joy of a holiday and the thrill of living each moment to the fullest.

The Mountain at Its Grandest

When it comes to finding the perfect spot, Le Coucou has become a landmark across Les Trois Vallées. Nestled between the resorts of Courchevel and Val Thorens, Le Coucou truly discovered the ideal location in Méribel. With its elegant, traditional chalet appearance, one would never guess that the hotel spans ten floors and 12,000 square meters along the mountainside, as it seamlessly blends with its surroundings. Here, in the heart of the resort, regular guests gather—more numerous and loyal each year. From top to bottom, mountain-side and valley-side, the horizon opens up infinitely to majestic peaks and magical views, where nothing disturbs the natural beauty. Inside, architect Pierre Yovanovitch has transformed every window into a breathtaking panoramic tableau, from the rooms to the Bar, from the spa to the restaurants...

A Reimagined Chalet Full of Hidden Charms

It's a game of hide and seek, where guests think they're entering a cosy chalet only to find themselves in a grand, cathedral-like reception hall. Le Coucou masterfully balances contrasts—monumental yet intimate, rigid geometric lines against soft, flowing forms, vintage blended with contemporary creations, pristine regularity juxtaposed with artisanal imperfections, wood paired with stone, fabrics with metal, glass with leather.

Through a holistic architectural approach that integrates layout and decor, Pierre Yovanovitch brings a fresh, contemporary perspective to classic Alpine style, maintaining a refined warmth with playful twists. Antique furnishings sit alongside pieces designed by the architect, who has woven in delightful details: bird-claw feet (naturally), old-style ski poles, owl-shaped hooks, and frosted glass light fixtures that resemble melting icicles—small nods to the playful cuckoo that emerges from its chalet to chime each hour.

Among Le Coucou's rooms and suites, the Ernestine and Eloïse suites stand out for their family-friendly design. At around 100 and 120 square meters, respectively, these suites provide a haven for families to enjoy Méribel in cosy comfort. Each suite offers two separate bedrooms with private bathrooms, a living room, and a kitchenette, creating a true home in the mountains for families and groups of friends.

One Chalet May Hide Two Others...

Le Coucou is complemented by two private chalets for rent—Églantine and Éléonore—luxurious, cosy spaces designed for ultimate relaxation. Independent yet connected to the hotel through an interior passage, these chalets offer full access to all of Le Coucou's five-star services.

Each chalet spans four floors and approximately 600 square meters, comfortably accommodating up to 12 guests, making them ideal for extraordinary family holidays. Fully outfitted with four bedrooms, four bathrooms, a kitchen, a living room with breathtaking views, a play area and TV lounge, private pool and spa, as well as a ski room with ski-in/ski-out access, each chalet provides an intimate and convivial mountain retreat. The decor, by Pierre Yovanovitch, adds a signature touch, blending warmth with refined luxury.

A Sensation of Absolute Relaxation Like Being at Home... in the Mountains

The cheerful cuckoo, bringing smiles to all, holds a place of honor at the hotel, with a collection of antique cuckoo clocks displayed on one wall of the piste-side restaurant. This symbolic touch reflects the joy of living in a place where luxury doesn't take itself too seriously, where comfort is never sacrificed for appearances, and where creating unforgettable holiday memories is a full-time pursuit.

The architecture meets all the practicalities of mountain life, making movement throughout the space effortless and leaving guests free to focus on skiing. Designed as a boutique lounge complete with a cosy café and fitting room, the ski room opens directly onto the slopes with a terrace ready for takeoff. Since the hotel's opening, Louis and his team have provided tailored experiences, ensuring that every detail of ski equipment is handled expertly, from the setup to the personalised service for each room. Each day, this five-star team takes care of every guest's skiing needs, maintaining a record of preferences from year to year—one of those thoughtful details that make all the difference.

This bistronomic restaurant reimagines brasserie classics with a coastal twist, complemented by both vegetarian and meat options. The menu, carefully crafted with indulgent flavors and precision, brings everyone together in a celebration of premium ingredients and exceptional generosity.

Expect oysters and seafood, blue lobster, Sologne caviar, and langoustines, alongside fish prepared grilled, seared, or as tartare. Bringing the ocean to the mountains is a unique find in Méribel. To top off the meal, the spectacular dessert cart awaits, perfect for sharing... or not! The ambiance is enriched by piano bar vibes, with cocktails that daringly incorporate génépi, while a singer performs beloved French classics.

Le Fumoir Restaurant

Perched on the eighth floor of the hotel, Le Fumoir is a haven for cheese lovers, offering a cosy, intimate, and authentically Savoyard atmosphere. Here, guests can enjoy the essential, hearty, and refined dishes of local cuisine, made with genuine regional products. Naturally, the menu features delicious fondues and raclettes crafted from traditional Savoyard cheeses, paired with a selection of fine charcuterie (such as jambon de Pays, white ham, Grisons meat, Lyon rosette, and truffled ham).

During a ski holiday, Le Fumoir is a must-visit for an unforgettable experience in Méribel's unique ambiance. The restaurant, with space for up to 20 guests, can also be privatised for events, offering the chance to savor the mountain atmosphere in an exclusive, private setting.

Le Bar des Pistes

A must-visit gathering spot at any time of day, Le Bar des Pistes perfectly embodies Le Coucou's spirit: chic yet laid-back, elegant, warm, romantic for couples, and lively with friends. It's the ideal spot to watch skiers glide down the Belvédère slope alongside the hotel, whether you're enjoying a cappuccino or a club sandwich. The bar also attracts food lovers, who can't resist its irresistible afternoon treat buffet. The cosy, relaxed ambiance is just what you crave after a day on the slopes, with warm crêpes waiting for you at the bar—an invitation to unwind with family or friends, free from formalities.

As evening falls, the bar transforms into a vibrant cocktail scene, where Le Coucou's bartender brings out the shakers, creating dazzling cocktail recipes that delight every guest.
